

California Wing Encampment 2008

day 4

August 5th

Endure

The first Sergeants picked up the pace of PT this morning with your first Squadron PT Session. Once again, Lt. Eggli was there to motivate those who needed a little extra encouragement. The Morning session ended with a Squadron run. You are now beginning to become a more cohesive team.

After another breakfast provided by our excellent mess staff, your classes began. Your class was a lesson in aerospace history. After learning about the evolution of flight, you should have the basic knowledge to teach an aerospace class at your home squadron.

After lunch was a Key Person Formation, which was attended by only the Flight Commanders and your Guides.

Next was an Emergency Services Introduction class. The Senior Member in charge gave explanations of basic ES activities. Hopefully this motivated you to get involved.

You also continued your ongoing volleyball practices, preparing yourself for the competition. These practices build teamwork and encourage a healthy lifestyle.

At the group formation, Major Theisen announced that the CTG honor flight for yesterday was Delta Flight.

Following dinner, you had your third inspection. The final practice for your squadron inspection. Now its time for rest in order to put forth “You’re in my house

now... and you didn’t knock”

Lt. Eggli

CTG Honor Flt: TBA

109th Honor Flt: Charlie Flight

110th Honor Flt: Echo

111th Honor Flt: TBA

“Those who do the minimum are never remembered”

Brought to your barracks by the Department of Public Affairs